Dear Parents,

“Creative Inheritance Brings Happiness to the Elders - To Share Love Together” Activity

To dovetail with the optimization of the “Priority Values and Attitudes” (PVAs), the Education Bureau has launched the “Creative Inheritance Brings Happiness to the Elders – To Share Love Together” Activity. Parents and students are encouraged to use recycled and environmentally friendly materials (e.g., used red packets) for making hanging ornaments for Chinese New Year, and let students arrange service based experiential learning activities. This helps students develop and practice PVAs, namely “Benevolence”, “Filial Piety” and “Unity” and promotes traditional Chinese culture.

The PTA is going to hold a parent workshop on making environmentally friendly hanging ornaments for Chinese New Year. After learning how to make the decorations, it is believed that your parent-child interaction can be further enhanced through making them with your children at home. Parents who cannot participate in the activity can also watch the video by scanning the QR code below and make the hanging ornaments together with your child(ren). Students could submit their products to school and the school will then deliver the ornaments to the elderly or community centres in the district so as to express their love to the elderly or needy.

Details of the activity are as follows:
